I think part of this also relates to us not being able to talk to the public until we made our findings and decision about TC.

I can't understand why some press people have to have a negative side to everything. Gads we will win in spite of that.

I don't think the legis opposition helped themselves the last two days with very limited consultant knowledge. We need to do a good the next few days. We certainly have prepared. God bless. Tom Amazing how Mike Ross has a doom n gloom teaser line before an article on the legislative consultants' hearing that I thought was pretty positive.

Also on the next segment they failed to disclaim that Ditt is on AOGA's Board of Directors hence the 42%-31% preference in his poll favoring the producer's project.

Felons incarcerated for years should work and contribute.

Although you said you wouldn't consider being VP with McCain, I would vote for that ticket! You'd be an asset to the ticket...keep up the good work, let's use some of our oil, shale, and natural gas resources and stop worrying so much about being so politically 'correct' and 'tolerant'.

Most importantly, your country and those of us who love it, desperately need someone like you on the national scene.

I hope you will actively pursue and ultimately attain the office of Vice President of the United States. Who knows what could happen after that.

Hello Govenor Palin,

As a longtime Wasilla resident I have pride in our city, the new Palmer-Wasilla extension to Knik Road was a welcome addition to the ever increasing traffic problem for Knik road residents, they took the time to make a faux-look red brick meridians and since early spring I have noticed that they are covered with gravel from the winters sanding, I called the Road Maintanance crew in Palmer and they said that their sweepers were down.. and they onoy have a couple of them and with all the other road maintnance jobs they have to do they don't have time to fix them! The dust is so bad and when the tennagers whip around the corners they spray gravel at you! :) Please allot funds for sweepers:) It may seem trivial, but you cannot put sand and gravel on the roads year after year and not pick it up! We will back to gravel roads in that case! Thanks for your time... and congratulations on your new baby boy and all the great work you are doing for us Alaskans! :) Sincerely, Christine

Governor,

Good evening!

Attached is a national op-ed piece that we would like your blessing on. You would be the author of this and it would be shopped around to national publications, beginning with the New York Times. The process could take a couple of weeks - it all depends on the level of interest and who bites. MCB will do the shopping for us with its national editorial contacts.

The attached has been reviewed and rewritten by Bruce, Kurt, Tom, Pat, Marty, and me. This is the final version for your approval.

Thanks,

Meghan

He wanted to know if you would be interested in writing a short introduction to his book. I have the draft of the book and can deliver it to you in Juneau on Monday if you are interested. Governor Palin,

I just want to let you know that I was inspired by your appearance on Glenn Beck's program a few days ago. PLEASE KEEP UP THE FIGHT FOR OIL!

But on the other hand, as a member of "Free Republic," I have noticed that your name gets floated as an option for John McCain's Vice Presidential Nominee.

Please do not accept. Fight the good fight in Alaska.

Thanks.

Is it true that you have filed suit against the Feds because the Feds will not allow the sale of excess fuel held by Alaska? Please send me applicable information related to this subject. Why are we paying so much for fuel to be imported, when it is available in our country? I'd like to contact some local politicians about this, but I want the facts right.

Congratulations to you and best wishes in your term as Governor.

1. CONN. TRASH KINGPIN PLEADS GUILTY; EMPIRE FALLS

James Galante, the owner of several Danbury, CT-based waste businesses and the central figure in a conspiracy to inflate prices and deceive the IRS, pleaded guilty to charges of racketeering, defrauding the Internal Revenue Service, and conspiracy to commit wire fraud. He faces 70 to 87 months in prison when sentenced later this summer. He also agreed to forfeit his stake in 25 waste hauling and recycling companies to the federal government, and promised to never work in the business again. Galante is among 33 people indicted in 2006 for participating in a price-fixing scheme that involved organized crime...Read More »

2. ALLIED WASTE GETS POSITIVE REPORT CARD

   Investment rating agency Fitch Ratings recently upgraded its outlook for Allied Waste Industries. The agency believes that Allied's strong cash flow, pricing discipline, and efforts to reduce debt have improved the company's credit profile. Despite the continuing decline in volumes, estimated to be between 1.5%-3% in 2008 due to the slowing U.S. economy, pricing is expected to remain firm and projected to increase by 4.5% in 2008. Pricing strength appears to be holding across the industry, as virtually all of Allied's major competitors are now focusing more on return on invested capital (ROIC) and margins, rather than on volumes and market share when making pricing decisions. This is especially true with stronger landfill pricing which drives pricing up the chain including collection and processing...Read More »

3. BEST BUY ROLLING OUT FREE E-WASTE RECYCLING PROGRAM

   The nation's largest consumer electronics retailer Best Buy is rolling out a free electronic waste program where consumers will be able to bring in up to two items per day at participating Best Buy stores. It is believed to be the most extensive electronics recycling program by any retailer to date and is naturally being haled by the Consumer Electronics Association. The trial covers 117 Best Buy stores across eight states that will collect a wide variety of old electronics at no charge. Results of the trial will determine whether they expand the recycling program to all 922 stores in the US. The company agreed to set up the recycling trial under pressure from "As You Sow," a social responsibility group, which had threatened a shareholder intervention...Read More »

4. PLASCO ENERGY PROPOSES TO BUILD $125 MILLION PLASMA PLANT FOR OTTAWA, ONT.

   Plasco Energy Group has offered to build a $125 million waste-to-energy plant for the City of Ottawa, Ont. Under the proposed deal, Plasco would cover the cost of construction and in return, the city would enter a long-term contract to supply the plant with post-recycled waste paying Plasco about $8 million a year in fees. The city generates about 300 thousand tonnes of waste per year but with new recycling systems set to begin next year, hopes to divert as much as 60% of that stream. The Plasco plant would take the rest: about 400 tonnes of garbage per day, or about 136 thousand tonnes per year. With Ontario government approval, Plasco says the plant could be operational by 2010...Read More »

5. TRADE GROUPS PRESS EPA ON GREENHOUSE REPORTING REQUIREMENTS
   Two of the waste industry's biggest trade groups are urging the US EPA to consider much of the progress already made by the industry to reduce greenhouse gas (GHG) emissions before proceeding with its rulemaking. In a joint letter to the U.S. EPA, the National Solid Wastes Management Association (NSWMA) and the Solid Waste Association of North America (SWANA) commented on the agency's draft mandatory greenhouse gas (GHG) reporting and its potential impact on municipal solid waste (MSW) landfills. Specifically the groups want the EPA to consider the industry's already substantial success in reducing GHG emissions, establish a protocol for estimating fugitive landfill emissions, account for carbon sequestration in estimating GHG emissions from landfills, and exclude biogenic GHG emissions from reporting requirements...Read More »

6. NEW LANDFILL-GAS-TO-ENERGY PROJECT FOR BREVARD COUNTY, FLA.
   Brevard County, Florida's Central Disposal Facility (Cocoa Landfill) last month began converting its gas to energy. The $11 million system employs six 1.6-megawatt Caterpillar engines to produce enough electricity (9.6 MW) to power more than 6,000 homes. Michigan-based Landfill Energy Systems funded the project which includes a 6,000-square-foot plant. In return for the rights to the gas, the county is to receive a cut of the estimated annual revenues of $400,000 over the 20-year contract. Landfill Energy Systems, meanwhile, earns federal tax credits for producing green energy...Read More »

7. RENEWABLE FUEL DEVELOPER BIOGOLD ENTERS ALLIANCE
   BioGold Fuels said that it executed a strategic alliance with Colwich, Kan.-based ICM, Inc. to engineer, design, and build BioGold's municipal solid waste (MSW) to energy plants. Under the agreement, ICM will have exclusive and preferred rights to engineer and construct all future facilities. BioGold is developing technologies to recycle MSW into electricity, synthetic diesel fuel and other renewable fuels...Read More »

8. SCS ENGINEERS IS A FOUNDING REPORTER OF THE CLIMATE REGISTRY
   SCS Engineers said it has been named a Founding Reporter of "The Climate Registry," a non-profit organization established to measure and report greenhouse gas emissions (GHG) in a common, accurate and transparent manner consistent across industry sectors and borders. Thirty-nine U.S. states, six Canadian provinces, among others initiated the organization. According to Gina McCarthy, Chair of The Climate Registry, "SCS has demonstrated exemplary environmental leadership by courageously stepping forward to support The Climate Registry in its preliminary stages."..Read More »

9. ONESTEEL ADDS $25 MILLION STEEL SCRAP FACILITY AT PORT OF TAMPA
   Australian steelmaker OneSteel Recycling recently opened another steel scrap processing facility at Port of Tampa Florida. OneSteel, formerly known as Smorgon Steel, expanded its operation with the additional 9.4 acre facility, as well as the investment of about $25 million for a new shredder. It is expected to process around 150,000 tons of scrap its first year...Read More »

Saw you on Glen's show the other night. I really respect that you are balancing a young family and a huge state at the same time. Congratulations on the recent birth of your son, I myself became a first time father about a month ago. Again, thank you so much for being a one in a million governor who is willing to do SOMETHING while the rest of the government watches the price at the pump sky rocket. I've always wanted to live in Alaska, but my wife is terrified of bears, she'd never allow it. I have a hard enough time convincing her to go to Yellowstone every summer. Again, if there is anything I can do on my end to help your fight just let me know. Keep up the good work, you are awesome.- Justin Reeves

MESSAGE:

Dear Gov. Palin,

Just wanted to say that you would bring everything I respect and appreciate in women with power to the GOP ticket if selected as Sen McCain's running mate. I do not wish upon you the invasiveness that would come with the nomination but you have the integrity, grit and strength to handle it. You are NOT our version of Hillary!! You are far more grounded, experienced and likable, besides being abundantly qualified!

I would vote for you!

I am a resident of Washington St, living in California because my active duty AF husband is stationed here. I am a disabled veteran in my own right (retired AF, third generation) and my oldest son is in AF ROTC in college. I have 3 kids, a Master's degree and I vote!

Women like you are what this country needs in politics- honest, strong, focusing on the right things and doing your best towards that end.

I would encourage you to strongly consider the VP nomination if Sen McCain offers it. You are the first person to really get me enthused about the GOP ticket in a long time.

And if the VP offer doesn't come - just keep doing what you are doing for Alaska! Woman in the lower 48 have their eyes on you and our prayers for your continued success in all the duties of your life! God bless you and stay true!

Sincerely,

Laura Buckner

Message:Dear Governor Palin:

I was very disappointed to hear that you took out that portion of the budget that was to improve the North Tongass roadway between Totem Bite & Whipple Creek outside of Ketchikan. The situation on that portion of highway is critical to the public safety of Ketchikan residents and visitors alike. This stretch of highway contains a popular state park, a grocery store, gas station, restaurant, a trailer park, a recreation area and many, many homes. On a daily basis I see children walking or riding bikes along the road headed to the grocery store (probably to buy candy as I did at their age) on a very, very narrow & unpaved shoulder. This situation is very dangerous. Over the last 30+ years I can recall 5 deaths just on this small stretch of highway (two of them teens).

I am concerned that Ketchikan is being forgotten as part of the State of Alaska. Things have been cut here that are vital in keeping this area a safe place to live. I never thought that millions would be spent on recreation centers, while our roadways went to pot w/ no safe shoulder to walk on (a bike path would be so great for North Tongass).

Thank you so much for your time & consideration. I think you are terrific, but hope you don't forget about our basic needs down here in Ketchikan.

Sincerely,

Abby Kosmos

Message:Mrs. Palin,

By and large, I do approve and admire your administative abilities and support you as a governor. You have been rather impressive in the political field and effective in responsibly handling our economic siduation. Still, I am baffled by your decision to cut funding for $500,000 to the Alaska Center for Energy & Power. The funds are but a relatively small portion of the budget and would be (as I understand) matched by the federal government on a 2 for 1 basis. I moved up here to Alaska almost three years ago to seek my degree, hoping to move into the field of energy research. I know it may not be expected for such a small group to achieve any tangible results, but thier work would have been benificial to the overall progress of energy development in alaska. I have not seen your written explaination of veto's as I have yet to locate it, but I would ask that you consider supporting the work of research even if it doesn't appear to provide tangible results. Research is an incrimental field, its not a series of big breaks and wasted money. I hope you will consider this in the future.

Sincerely,

John Beanland

Subject: Remarks for One Lord Sunday

Governor,

I wanted to get these remarks to you as soon as possible, so that you could let me know if you'd like changes made. I can print these off onto two smaller cards that would fit in your Bible, if that suited you. Please let me know at your convenience if the remarks meet your expectations. Thanks so much and have a good day!

Hello Governor,

I was nice to see you at the reception last night, busy times. I thought I'd give you a quick update on the union situation. Right after the Judiciary meeting we called and offered the Business Agent an opportunity to meet with us and help design the next prison bus. We also offered a Labor/Management committee and a mediation. They accepted all three invitations. We are meeting on our terms, and on subjects appropriate for the union to be involved, and so far so good. The director and Deputy Director are in our Juneau facility as we speak answering questions of the line staff and Sam and Kevin are in Kenai today meeting about the bus. I don't want to count chickens before they hatch, but things look much better today than a couple of weeks ago. Last night I didn't chase lawmakers around, but I did get some positive feedback on the whole situation. The most significant was Sen. French telling me the union did not make a good case to him and he remains unconvinced of their allegations. LB&A did not allow the union to make a statement at their hearing and decided to go ahead with the staffing and square foot ratios, and MRSA numbers. None of the remaining allegations will be audited. We have nothing to hide, have not lied about any of our decisions or numbers so the audit is good for us. Our ratios are better than most states, and if anyone wants to say we need more staff, I wouldn't argue. When they compare school districts and hospitals to us as far as MRSA, we are way better. We are tracking it, unlike most other systems and epidemiology is guiding us. If they say we need more medical staff, we wouldn't argue with that either.

Our expansion plan is clicking along as well. The Bethel project (66 beds) may be in trouble as fuel just jumped to seven bucks and we have several staff wanting to transfer out. Tough times out there now. The Point Mack project (1536 beds) and the Seward project (144 beds) look strong, both with construction scheduled to begin spring 09. Supervised Prisoner crews are building 60 beds in Palmer and with our busses we should be able to help the crowding in Anchorage.

Your support has been a true blessing. Thank you.

Joe
